

Brief details about Anurag Gangal

Anurag Gangal is a Professor of Political Science and Director, Gandhian Centre for Peace and Conflict Studies, University of Jammu, Jammu, Jammu and Kashmir, India. He has served Indian University System for 35 years now. Invited as Gandhian philosophy expert in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's project of Gandhi Kutir in Gandhinagar, Ahmedabad, Gujarat during 2015 to 2016. Has been a member of Mahatma Gandhi International Peace Prize Advisory Committee. Conferred Ambassador for Peace Award of international NGO of United Nations in 2014.

Expert in selection committees of universities, colleges and central schools. UGC expert and nominee for/in institutions of higher learning such as universities and colleges. Served as Convenor, Head of Department, Director, Visiting Professor and Consultant. Involved in various exchange events with United Kingdom, United States and Canadian Universities in addition to a number of noted Indian Universities. Member / founder of quite a few social and academic institutions and societies. Patron / editor / chairman / member of editorial boards in international and national social science research and also Ayurvedic medical journals. Member of a number of civil society and cultural institutions and clubs and trusts. Specialisation and interest are in international politics with special reference to Indian foreign policy, contemporary global problems; cooperation and conflict in South Asia; and Gandhian perspective on problems of international politics, world peace, conflict resolution, political ecology, education and civilisation.

Travelled widely anent academics and research. Published 04 research books and more than three dozen research articles alongwith several topical articles.

Started university and college teaching career in 1984 from Delhi University. Joined University of Jammu in 1985. Supervised several Ph.Ds and M.Phils. He is also a professional and trained journalist as sub-editor, reporter, editor in Indian media during 1979 to 1983 in Delhi and Hyderabad.

Educated at Delhi from childhood upto obtaining the M.Phil. degree from Delhi University. Obtained Ph.D. from Agra University, Agra.